YEGGMEN BLOW SUN THEATRE SAFE

$140 Secured As Reward For Most Daring Robbery

Safe blowers Monday night invaded the heart of the business district, wresting $140, a day's receipts, from the safe at the Sun theatre on Gallia street and escaping, left no clue to their identity. It is a climax to a series of petty thieving, daring robberies and wholesale depredations that have been practiced in the city for weeks.

Police are baffled. Not a clue that offers a tangible thread on which to weave a net around the criminals has been picked up.

Three weeks ago, under cover of a raging blizzard, robbers raided Anderson Bros. store and escaped with plunder estimated at $200. Not a garment of the entire amount of goods has been recovered. So far the police have not been in possession of a semblance of a clue. Friday night, robbers applied their talents to Louis Ditty's cafe on Gallia street, securing $27 in cash and a small quantity of liquor. Raids of the robbers have all been directed at prominent business establishments.

Similar robberies of dwellings in the residential districts are attributed to the tentacles of the same gang which holds the city in its grip.

President Takes Firm Stand In His Message

Washington, Dec. 2.—An entire [illegible] for [illegible] ship of public [illegible] and a de[illegible] mand that th[illegible] people and not per[illegible] tisans select presidential candi[illegible] dates, were [illegible] sug[illegible] tions by President Wilson in his fourth message to congress today.

The president frankly advocated [illegible] a government owned and con[illegible] trolled railroad in Alaska and went farther in the matter of the advocacy of a presidential pri[illegible] mary than any enthusiast of the plan have ever yet suggested.

He also declared strongly that Huerta must be eliminated from the Mexican government.

The president arrived on the floor at 1:01 this afternoon and finished at 1:40, and soon after left for the white house. The president's reception was much more enthusiastic than on any previous occasion. When he was presented by Speaker Champ Clark, Senator Kern started handclapping and which spread over the floor and then into the galleries. The president smiled broadly in acknowledgement.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE IN BRIEF.

MEXICO—Mexico has no government. "There can be no certain prospect of peace in Mexico until General Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority, and that time is not far away."

FARMERS—"Business enterprise does the farmer a great service. The farmer and the government will henceforth be real partners."

BUSINESS—"Let the Sherman anti-trust law stand unaltered, but remove the debatable ground by supplement legislation" to make "fairness to all concerned."

The message promised:

PRESIDENTIAL PRIMARIES—"I urge the prompt enactment of legislation which will provide for primary elections throughout the country at which the voters may choose their nominees for the presidency."

UNITED STATES TERRITORIES—"Ultimate independence in the Philippines. Perfect self government in Hawaii."

ALASKA—"Full territorial form of government. Alaska as a store house should be unlocked. The government should own and administer the railroads, ports and terminals. It should itself control them."

MINES—"Provide a fair and effective employers liability act. Social justice comes first. Law is the machinery for its realization."

SAFETY AT SEA—"Prompt alleviation of the very unsafe, unjust and burdensome condition which now surrounds the employment of sailors."

He submitted himself to the physicians of the General Health Board for examination, and after looking him over, the doctors concluded that he answered all the demands, not of the faddists of eugenics, perhaps, but of modern science.

WHEN IS A MAN DRUNK? READ THIS AND GET WISE

The Scioto County Liquor License Board, Tuesday, issued the following statement in regard to the opinions that shall govern saloons in regard to the sale of intoxicants to intoxicated persons or to persons in the habit of becoming intoxicated:

Section 13128 of the General Code of Ohio reads as follows:

"Whoever buys intoxicating liquor for, or sells, or furnishes it to a person who is intoxicated, or in the habit of getting intoxicated, unless given by a physician in the regular line of his practice, shall be fined not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or imprisoned not less than ten days nor more than thirty days, or both."

While there is much difference of opinion as to what constitutes a state of intoxication, and the habit of getting intoxicated, as expressed in the foregoing section of the General Code, it is well to observe what has been advised and decreed by the courts as correct definitions of these terms. The charge of Judge Nash, which is frequently quoted by judges of the common pleas courts, is given below:

"A person may be said to be intoxicated when he is so much under the influence of intoxicating liquor that he is unfitted and disqualified from attending to and performing the usual duties and business of life. Intoxicating liquors affect different individuals in different ways. One individual it renders dull and stupid, so that while he may possess the powers of locomotion, his intellect is so stupefied that he is wholly incapable of attending to any matter of business; another is rendered excited and noisy, and for the time positively insane, though he may be physically stronger and more active than when sober. In these instances the effect is upon the mind, disqualifying the man intellectually for being fit to be entrusted with the performance of any important business. On the other hand, another person will exhibit intoxication by losing all control over his muscles, staggering in his walk, falling down, and in other ways showing that he will be unable to transact business without injury to himself or others. Still the man is physically disqualified by the intoxication from attending to his ordinary business. There are other persons who are morally and physically able to think and transact business, but who, by the use of intoxicating liquors, become so much elevated as to incapacitate them for the transaction of business, without being their physical inability, or without their being so much under the influence of liquor as to be unfitted for business, and yet the effect to make them so talkative, boisterous, or otherwise disorderly, that they are clearly in violation of the law, and are such as the proprietor of a saloon should not permit to remain upon his premises, or to be served with more intoxicating liquor. These are the persons who are described in the statute as those who are in the habit of getting intoxicated, and to whom it is unlawful for any person to sell or furnish intoxicating liquors."

Good Cheer Aids Digestion of Food

Dyspeptics Can Make the Rest of the Family Happy by Using a Laxative-tonic

The temper of the family and the good cheer around the table depend much on the good digestion of each individual present that the experiences of some former dyspeptics who overcome their trouble should be of interest to those now suffering in this way.

The [illegible] one can glean from the advice that is offered is to eat slowly, masticate each mouthful carefully. However, if this eating and careful mastication fails the next aid is one of Nature's, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This remedy is an excellent digestant of the food, acts gently on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to normal action, and gives the system a thorough cleansing. It is a safe, reliable, pleasant laxative, and results are guaranteed.

Maj. S. Martin, of Joplin, Mo., now 77, thinks Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has helped him to a longer and happier life. He has not felt so good for years. He has since taking this excellent medicine, and at the age of his 77 years he says he feels like a boy.

It is the ideal remedy for biliousness, no matter how severe, constipation, sick headache, sour stomach, flatulence, nervous headache, dizziness, poor eating and similar ailments.

MAJ. S. MARTIN

You can obtain Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar, the latter size being bought by heads of families already familiar with its merits. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

When you use Syrup Pepsin you will see the folly of chewing mints and tablets or of taking cathartics, cubes, pills and similar drastic medicines. Unlike these, Syrup Pepsin does not lose its good effect, and by merely training the stomach and bowel muscles to do their work, soon restores these organs to a normal.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 459 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card will do with your name and address on it will do.

EVAN WILLIAMS TOOK PURE WATER ALONG

"I would like to have a glass of distilled water," said Evan Williams, the great Welsh tenor, as he placed a quarter on the bar in the cafe of the Washington hotel Monday night.

"I hope I am not casting any reflection on your water when I order it, but I have been here by request and I have visited the celebrated vocalist. Let me say that every town I visit always has the best water without an exception and I suppose Portsmouth is not behind in this respect," said Mr. Williams as he leaned a glass of the glass on crystal clear water that was placed before him.

"No, that is our claim we cannot conscientiously make," came back Perry Hood, who was just behind the right of Mr. Williams.

"Well, this is the first town I ever struck that wouldn't admit that their water service was second to none," rejoined Williams with an expansive smile that illuminated his mobile countenance.

"Well, since you admit that your water supply is not what it should be I think I'd better not take any chances." So a small bottle of Bethesda water was thrust into an overcoat pocket of the singer and he departed in peace. As he said: "Well that ought to be enough to wet my whistle" and the wonderful water that gentle hint to it that the gentleman to his left, Perry Hood, had done him a great favor by informing him that the water supply here was not fit for mere man to drink, let alone America's most famous tenor.

PEERLESS FACTORIES BUSIEST IN YEARS

Portsmouth's enviable chain of shoe factories were never busier than right now and the firms are already making the statement without fear of contradiction that the present season, rapidly drawing to a close, will be the best in their history. More shoes have already been turned out and shipped to the various corners of the globe than at any other period in the history of the firms, the plants having been operated to their utmost capacity the past three months.

As a piece of illustrative evidence the Selby Shoe Company recently received orders on their books calling for over 100 pairs of shoes and they expect to get out that many. But with the removal of the Excelsior plant to its new home on Ballard street, the Selby Shoe Company will increase its daily output to 7,500 pairs of shoes, placing it in the ranks as a shoe manufacturing plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of women's high grade shoes.

Sounding a note of optimism at the recent banquet of the board of trade the various manufacturing firms are convinced that 1914 will dawn with brighter prospects than any year in their existence. They are shaping up their affairs to further widen their field of endeavor, to enlarge their selling force, to sharpen the ax of competition and to augment not only their selling forces but to increase their facilities and there by uphold Portsmouth's reputation of being one of the best manufacturing towns in the Middle West, the home of busy plants, happy workmen and happy homes.

Good and insistent is the demand for Selby-made shoes that there has not had any slack time for three or four years. Labor is even at the far end of a scarce a lost art with this progressive firm.

And so it is with other shoe factories in the River City. For several years business had cause to worry about work in Portsmouth. This would need almost daily be a horde of shoe workers, who would come and fortune at factories only to find no vacancy positions with a smile on this city and take up positions with a smile and a air of willing hands. They can do better in the factories than in any others in country and immediately throw themselves into a corner to drive the wanderlust out of this or that enterprise. Labors under the delusion that he can do better in some other town.

Holiday Rush Cut Out

Saturday the Brode Shoe Company issued an edict that no more a heavy run of orders for work in the forenoon hereafter work will be done only days a week and not every day on Saturday afternoons.

Night Work At Plants

Selby and Excelsior plants are so busy that many of workmen have been compelled to remain report for work at 6 or work an hour extra at night.

Tuesday was pay day with the employes and almost $2,000 was distributed among them. As this firm takes over the Excelsior buildings and equip them with sufficient machinery to turn out 3,000 pairs of shoes every day the pay roll will total $2,625 per week. Think of one firm handing out $10,000 monthly to its employes! One can readily see the position the immense Selby plant holds in an industrial way to the River City.

Stove Companies Have Big Year

The stove industry isn't the only one that is flourishing in old town. The Ohio Stove Co. and the Portsmouth Stove and Range Company are rounding out the most satisfactory year in their history. The Ohio Stove Company received a jolt of nine months in the March flood but has recovered from the setback and is going right ahead and is working six days in the week.

The Portsmouth Vulcan Iron Company, one of the newer concerns, is humming merrily and busy at all departments. This company is constantly adding to its list of employes.

In fact practically all of the concerns that go to make Portsmouth a position of eminence in the industrial world have had a very satisfactory year and are planning for bigger things in 1914. The industrial heart of the city is in perfect shape for the year and everything gives promise of the twelve month the future promises to be a prosperous one and 1914 will be ushered in with the fires of all the plants, the backbone and sinews of any city, will pass through another period of prosperity. But will have contented employes as well as the employers and serve to further lift the city to a higher position on the industrial stick.

Mr. Distel Set Right

It develops that the fight which occurred Saturday night between Ott Hughes and Joe Mowry did not occur at the Louis Distel cafe, but happened on Boundary street. Hughes, it appears, is not employed at Louis Distel's saloon, but is a painter at Joe Distel's bowling alleys and the fight had no connection with other places. Louis Distel is owner of a special officer to keep order in his place and tolerates no arrangements or trouble of any kind.

BIG SENSATION AT STOCKDALE

The peaceful little village of Stockdale, Pike county, and nearby territory are all agog over the rumor of an alleged elopement that came to light a few days ago, in which a prominent farmer of that neighborhood and the wife of his close neighbor were the central figures. The matter will probably have its final airing in the courts, as it was reported that the wronged husband has consulted a Waverly attorney with a view of filing suit for damages against the despoiler of his home. Inquiry at Waverly Tuesday afternoon brought no information that no such suit has been filed as yet.

The story which has set the tongues to wagging is that the man, one of the most prominent farmers in that neighborhood, and the woman, were discovered in a compromising position by the injured husband one day towards the latter part of last week. A stormy scene ensued, in which the couple were scathingly denounced by the irate husband, who announced his intention of obtaining redress in the courts.

Owing to the prominence of the couple, the matter has caused a genuine sensation in and around Stockdale, and it has formed the main topic of conversation for the past three days.

THIN FOLKS WHO WOULD BE FAT

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fill up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of malnutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh-producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy, normal amount of fat, the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by taking a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it unites with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its effect is remarkable. Reports are in from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by The Fisher & Strodel Pharmacy, Portsmouth, Ohio, and other good druggists everywhere, and every package is guaranteed to gain weight or money back.

Caution: While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh-producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

PEEBLES PLAT APPROVED

Judge George M. Hahn appeared before the county commissioners Tuesday afternoon seeking the approval of the commissioners to the plat of the Peebles addition to New Boston.

This addition begins at the corporation line on the city and connects with the streets of New Boston. Gallia avenue is straight ened and made 60 feet wide, Rhodes and Stanton avenues are made 60 feet wide connecting with the avenues of the same name at New Boston proper. The cross streets are beginning at the city corporation line, Buck, Manning, Peebles, Finney and Stewart, these streets are all 60 feet wide. The addition contains 285 lots and with a few exceptions are 40 by 125 feet. The plat is an excellent one, the handiwork of Joseph W. Bosley, a civil engineer. The commissioners approved of same and it has now been approved by the county and city officials of New Boston.

But New York will see him and his company during the season as well. Philadelphia and Boston. For it is the arrangement made for an extension of the company's stay in those cities.

Mrs. Frank Shaffer Asks For Divorce

Attorneys Race and Ball filed a suit for divorce and alimony in common pleas court Tuesday afternoon, in which Rachel Schaffer is plaintiff and Frank Schaffer defendant. The petition avers marriage in August, 1895, and four children, ranging from one to 15 years old.

Mrs. Schaffer alleges that her husband has been guilty of extreme cruelty, in that he has cursed and abused her, called her vile names on divers occasions, has accused her of being unchaste, and that he has struck, beat and choked her, and on October 11, 1913, he drove her from home, and has since neglected to provide for her or the children, and has notified her that he will not provide for them.

They own considerable property and she asks that he be enjoined from disposing of any part thereof, or from interfering in any way with her or their children, and that she be granted temporary alimony while the suit is pending, and that at a final hearing she may be granted a divorce, reasonable alimony and the custody of their children.

Some of the most owners have placed the lower part of the city lots in the hands of real estate agents, a fact of which Mr. Mackey was also aware and it was stated Tuesday that Mr. Mackey has no plans in view at present for the property other than occupying it as a home.

The auditorium at the First Christian church was crowded to its capacity Monday evening when Rev. E. J. Meacham, former pastor of the church delivered his stereoptican lecture, entitled "Beauty Spots of America." The lecture was highly enjoyed, and a large sum was realized for the church. It was given under the auspices of the Loyal Daughters of the church, and was a big success.

Rev. Meacham led his hearers across the continent, illustrating by means of stereoptican views the wonderous beauties of the garden spots of the United States, beginning with the celebrated Plymouth Rock on the Atlantic coast, his hearers traveled with him to Philadelphia, where Independence Hall and the Liberty Bell still stands; to Washington, where the Congressional Library, Capitol Building, White House, Smithsonian Institute and other public buildings were shown; through the beautiful valleys of old Virginia, across the Central States; through the Grand Canon of Colorado, Yellow National Park, the Yosemite Valley of California, and countless other scenes of equal splendor and magnificence.

Rev. Meacham accompanied the illustrated lecture with a graphic and thorough word description of the sights which he was showing, which added greatly to the enjoyment of the lecture.

Rev. Meacham was warmly greeted by his old parishoners, and he held an impromptu reception at the conclusion of the lecture. He now holds an important position on the editorial staff of the Outlook, a Sunday school publication published in Cincinnati, which holds the distinction of having the largest circulation of any periodical of its kind in the world. OBITUARY

Jarred Moore

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cameron, of 1023 Chillicothe street, have returned from Vanceburg, where they attended the last rites of Jarred Moore, who was laid to rest Monday afternoon. He passed away Saturday, following a three week's illness with typhoid fever. Mr. Moore was a cousin of Mrs. Lee Cameron and he was 42 years old.

Mr. Moore also leaves a wife, Mrs. Jessie Moore and six children. The following sisters and brothers also survive: George Moore of Bond street, this city; Mrs. Eliza Cassman, of Vanceburg; Mrs. George Dillon of Rome, Adams county; Henry and Joseph Moore of Adams county.

Mr. Moore was a splendid citizen and he left many dear friends in Vanceburg. He was a loving husband and father and his death is surrounded by sad circumstances.

Attorney T. N. Ross.

Attorney Thomas Nelson Ross, 54, one of the most prominent and widely known lawyers in Ironton, died Sunday evening at the Deaconess hospital in that city after a few days' illness with pneumonia.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Eliza Ross, one brother, F. A. Ross and three sisters, Mrs. Sara Ross, at home, and Mrs. Lobel Thomas and Mrs. Alice McIntosh, of this city. His wife, who was Mary C. Slattery, died about six years ago.

As a lawyer Mr. Ross achieved much prominence and was well known throughout the Ohio valley. He was probably the peer of any man at the bar in natural ability. When engaged in a case he gave it his undivided attention. As an orator he had no peers and few equals.

His funeral took place this morning at 9 o'clock, from the home of his mother on South Seventh Street, Ironton.

Mrs. Barbara Kates

Funeral services over the body of Mrs. Barbara Kates, wife of Squire J. N. Kates of Barden, who passed away at her home after a lingering illness last Saturday evening, were held at the Kates home at Barden, Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Rev. A. D. Singer of Henley, conducted the services. Interment was made in the family lot at Newman cemetery, near Barden.

The six surviving children of the deceased officiated as pall bearers, Mrs. Minnie Keavey, of Cincinnati; Mrs. Headley Thomas of Dayton; Clyde C. Kates, of Dayton; James W. Kates of Barden, and Wiley A. Kates, common pleas court bailiff, of this city.

Relative Dead

Vallee Harold, one of the editors of The Times, left Tuesday afternoon for St. Louis to attend the funeral services of O. K. Clardy, a relative, who passed away Monday. Mr. Clardy was engaged in the insurance business and was quite successful.

Leichner Funeral

The pallbearers at the funeral services of the late Miss Margaret Leichner, who was laid to rest Monday afternoon were: Mrs. Charles Easterday, Mrs. Elliot Goeller, Mrs. Finlay Morris, Mrs. Emma Nodler, Miss Emma Goeller and Miss Hattie Catlin. Miss Leichner was a most estimable young woman and the last rites were attended by many of her friends and acquaintances. Interment was made in Greenlawn cemetery. Dan Leichner, Jr., a brother of the deceased, arrived here from Lynn, Mass., for the funeral services.

Klingman Funeral

Business associates and intimate friends of the late Phillip Klingman who were in attendance at the funeral here Monday returned to their respective homes Tuesday afternoon. In the party were: Dunley Waters, in whose private car the remains were brought to Portsmouth, Boyd Purdin, a hat manufacturer of Grand Rapids; Charles P. Limbert, a prominent furniture dealer of Holland, Mass., and Grand Rapids, Mich., H. H. Martin, manager of Mr. Klingman's furniture store, John Herberger, of Cincinnati, and Mr. Slabert, of Charleston, W. Va. Mr. Waters is a prominent official of the Pierre Marquette railway company. Mrs. Josephine Klingman, the widow, and Albert Klingman, a brother, also returned.

BIG FEATURE AT COLUMBIA

Tonight will be your last chance to see the world's series games between the Giants and Athletics at the Columbia theatre. The pictures are vivid and clear and the cozy theatre was crowded to the doors at every performance last night to see the 2,000 feet of films. McGraw and Connie Mack seemed to be the favorites last night, although the great Christy Mathewson and the weird but crafty Chief Bender came in for their share of applause.

The players on both teams are easily distinguished and the plays could easily be followed.

Besides the world's series games, the management has another fine picture. All in all, the attraction is one of the best ever brought to the Columbia.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, work, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Ironton, Ohio. Dear Miss Wise:—I am a boy 19 years of age and live on Fifth avenue in the city of Ironton, O. I correspond with a young girl friend in Portsmouth, and every time I receive a letter from her she always asks the question, "Why is a cow?" If you will be kind enough to tell me the answer, I will certainly appreciate it. Thanking you in advance, I remain, your affectionate friend,
JOHNNY ROUNDTHECORNER

P. S. If it would not be too much trouble please send me the names of some of the young ladies of the "Cheerless" City of Portsmouth.

Nobody but an Ironton Johnnie would have to ask "Why Is a Cow." It's the up-to-date Broadway to convey a gentle hint that a fellow has come to the jumping off place—must either propose or step aside. Sorry I cannot give you any names of our girls. If I did they would surely be in for a "Cheerless" time waiting on a slow poke like you to keep up with them. We're all up to date down here.

Dear Miss Wise:—When you receive an announcement of a birth is it necessary to send the baby a present?
SWEET MARIE.

You are not expected to send a gift, though you may if you wish. Baby pins, a spoon, any piece of clothing or a pillow or blanket for its cart would do.

Dear Miss Wise:—How can I persuade my papa to let me have a party. I have asked him several times and he always says, "I will see."
LITTLE DARLING.

Perhaps your father is one of the old fashioned kind. Get your mother to intercede for you, Little Darling. Perhaps she can persuade him to consent.

Dear Miss Wise: Is buttermilk good for the skin, or will it cause wrinkles?
BEAUTY SEEKER.

Buttermilk is indeed very good for the health in general, for the blood and should aid your complexion. There is no reason why it should cause wrinkles.

Dear Miss Dolly Wise: If an old friend drives past your home with another girl, is it because he thinks he is making a great showing or just to get one more look for old times sake.
BRIGHT EYES.

How do you know he drove past your house, Bright Eyes? I hope you wasn't watching and waiting for him. The chances are he never thought of you or didn't even know he was on your street. Still he might have passed just to let you know he could get another girl.

Dear Dolly: Is it all right for a girl to call a fellow up over the phone if he tells her to sometimes?
HENRIETTA.

I wouldn't do it, Henrietta. Boys think it smart to have girls call them up. They then go about and complain that the girls are running after them.

Dear Miss Wise:—I am very bashful, especially when with gentleman friends. How can I overcome this?
BESS.

Stop thinking about your own feelings, my dear. Don't think that every one is watching you all the time to see what you do. They don't. They are too busy thinking of something more important to themselves. Try to be interesting to others and you will forget about yourself.

Dear Miss Wise: What is the proper thing for a young man to say when asking a lady to be his bride?
HERBY

Whatever is in his heart. He will probably tell you that he loves her and wishes her for his wife. I thought you had got married.

her long ago, Dolly.

Dear Miss Wise:—Do you think that rosewater, glycerine and lemon juice will whiten the face and hands?
BARBARA.

Not very much. Use pure lemon juice or slightly diluted with rosewater, to take off tan.

Dear Miss Wise:—Please tell me how to clean a white muff. The fur is badly soiled and it seems to me you ought to know of some way of cleaning it, you know so much other stuff.
TIMES READER.

I am told that white furs may be cleaned with gasoline—plenty of it. Sponge several times if the gasoline becomes clouded. Have no artificial light in the room during the operation.

Dear Dolly: Will this egg get thick after using at one shampoo?
DOROTHY

The egg shampoo keeps the hair in good condition, but does not make the hair grow particularly. Eggs are too high now to be wasting the [illegible] Dorothy.

Dear Miss Wise: Please tell me how to remove [illegible] and pictures from porcelain glass.
AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHER

First coat the glass with copal varnish. Place piece on the pictures, face downward, smoothly and tightly. Place weight on back of glass. Now dampen the paper slightly, and rub until the image becomes transparent. Lift the paper to be looked at through the glass.

SOCIETY

(By Mrs. Harley E. Marconnet.)

Not since the coming of David Bispham two years ago has the musicale interest in Portsmouth been so thoroughly aroused and the people so ready to pay homage to the choice of an entire celebrity.

The selection of Evan Williams for this special concert under the auspices of the Ladies' Musicale, was a most happy one and will do its members deserve the praise of an appreciative public.

The pleasing personality of the man, his freedom from affectation and mannerisms, won him a secure place with the audience from the first number until the closing one.

His voice, an organ of wonderful range and power, lent itself perfectly to the requirements of the vast auditorium and left nothing to be desired by those who were held in the spell of his magic art.

Every number on his program was a gem and gave ample opportunity for his artistic shading and tone coloring. Although suffering somewhat from a cold in the middle register of his voice, he generously responded to the demands of the audience and gave several encores, none more touchingly beautiful than "A Perfect Day," by Carrie Jacobs Bond. When again singing that aria by the enraptured Handel, "Sound An Alarm," even with such fire and intensity of voice which again [illegible] Haydn, with its characteristic wordiness, when again the "Morning Zephyrs," by Jensen, with such delicacy and sweetness of tone.

HUERTA MUST GO.

Predicts Downfall of "Usurper" Who Cast Aside Even Pretense of Legal Right and Declared Himself Dictator."

There is but one cloud upon our horizon. That has shown itself to the south of us and hangs over Mexico. There can be no certain prospect of peace in America until General Huerta has surrendered his usurped authority in Mexico. Until it is understood on all hands, indeed, such pretended governments will not be countenanced or dealt with by the government of the United States. We are the friends of constitutional government in America. We are more than its friends; we are its champions, because in no other way can our neighbors to whom we would wish in every way to make proof of our friendship work out their own development in peace and liberty.

Mexico has no government. The attempt to maintain one at the City of Mexico has broken down, and a more military despotism has been set up which has hardly more than the semblance of national authority. It originated in the usurpation of Victoriano Huerta, who, after a brief attempt to play the part of constitutional president, has at last cast aside even the pretense of legal right and declared himself dictator. As a consequence a condition of affairs now exists in Mexico which has made it doubtful whether even the most elementary and fundamental rights either of her own people or of the citizens of other countries resident within her territory can long be successfully safeguarded and which threatens if long continued to imperil the interests of peace, order and tolerable life in the lands immediately to the south of us.

Even if the usurper had succeeded in his purposes, in despite of the constitution of the republic and the rights of its people, he would have set up nothing but a precarious and fitful power which could have lasted but a little while and whose eventual downfall would have left the country in a more deplorable condition than ever. But he has not succeeded. He has forfeited the respect and the moral support even of those who were at one time willing to see him succeed. Little by little he has been losing his adherents. By a little every day his power and prestige are crumbling, and the collapse is not far away. We shall not, I believe, be obliged to alter our policy of watchful waiting. And then, when the end comes, we shall hope to see constitutional order restored in distressed Mexico by the concert and energy of such of her leaders as prefer the liberty of their people to their own ambitions.

VIEWS ON CURRENCY BILL.

Urges Measure That Will Prove Benefit to Farmers—Hopes For Quick Action.

I turn to matters of domestic concern. You already have under consideration a bill for the reform of our system of banking and currency, for which the country waits with impatience, as for something fundamental to its whole business life and no wonder, to set credit free from arbitrary and artificial restraints. I need not say how earnestly I hope for its early enactment into law. I take leave to beg that the whole energy and attention of the senate be concentrated upon it till the matter is successfully disposed of. And yet I feel that the request is not needed—that the members of that great house need no urging in this service to the country.

I present to you in addition the urgent necessity that special provision be made also for facilitating the credits needed by the farmers of the country. The pending currency bill does the farmers a great service. It puts them upon an equal footing with other business men and masters of enterprise, as it should, and upon its passage they will find themselves quit of many of the difficulties which now hamper them in the field of credit. The farmers of course ask and should be given no special privileges, such as extending to them the credit of the government itself. What they need and should obtain is legislation which will make their own abundant and substantial credit resources available as a foundation for joint, concerted, local action in their own behalf in getting the capital they must use. It is to this we should now address ourselves.

It has, singularly enough, come to pass that we have allowed the industry of our farms to lag behind the other activities of the country in its development. I need not stop to tell you how fundamental to the life of the nation is the production of its food. Our thoughts may ordinarily be concentrated upon the cities and the hives of industry, upon the cries of the crowded market place and the changer of the factory, but it is from the quiet interspaces of the open valleys and the free hillsides that we draw the sources of life and of prosperity, from the farm and the ranch, from the forest and the mine. Without these every street would be silent, every office deserted, every factory fallen into disrepair.

And yet the farmer does not stand upon the same footing with the forester and the miner in the market of credit. He is the servant of the seasons. Nature determines how long he must wait for his crops and will not be hurried in her processes. He may give his time, but the season of its maturity depends upon the season when his crop matures and lies at the gates of the market where his products are sold. And the security he gives is of a character not known in the broker's office or as familiarly as it might be on the counter of the banker.

The agricultural department of the government is seeking to assist as better before to make farming an efficient business, of wide co-operative effort, in quick touch with the markets for foodstuffs. The farmers and the government will henceforth work together as real partners in this field, where we now begin to see our way very clearly and where many intelligent plans are already being put into execution.

The treasury of the United States has by a timely and well considered distribution of its deposits facilitated the moving of the crops in the present season and prevented the scarcity of available funds too often experienced at such times. But we must not allow ourselves to depend upon extraordinary expedients. We must add the means by which the farmer may make his credit constantly and easily available and command when he will the capital by which to support and expand his business. We lag behind many other great countries of the modern world in attempting to do this. Systems of rural credit have been studied and developed on the other side of the water while we left our farmers to shift for themselves in the ordinary money market. You have but to look about you in any rural district to see the result, the hardship and embarrassment which have been put upon those who produce our food.

Conscious of this backwardness and neglect on our part, the congress recently authorized the creation of a special commission to study the card. ...ous systems of rural credit which have been put into operation in Europe, and this commission is already prepared to report. Its report ought to make it easier for us to determine what methods are best suited to our own farmers. I hope and believe that the committees of the senate and house will address themselves to this matter with the most fruitful results, and I believe that the studies and recently formed plans of the department of agriculture may be made to serve them very greatly in their work of framing appropriate and adequate legislation.

It would be indiscreet and presumptuous in any one to dogmatize upon so great and many sided a question, but I feel confident that common counsel will produce the results we must all desire.

URGES CURRENCY REFORM TO BENEFIT THE FARMER.

President Wilson in his message urges the immediate passage of currency legislation. He insists that business interests of the nation are waiting on the expected law before making large new investments or developing resources. The president also calls attention to conditions as they exist at present, which make it very difficult for the farmer to finance his crop. He urges in his annual message provisions that will safeguard the farmer, help him credit and prevent a repetition of the necessity for the government to deposit large sums of money in the southern and western states so as to aid the producer, as was the case last fall.

UPHOLDS ANTI-TRUST LAW.

Recommends That It Be Supplemented With More Explicit Legislation to Facilitate Its Administration.

Turn from the farm to the world of business which centers in the city and in the factory, and I think that all thoughtful observers will agree that the immediate service we owe the business communities of the country is to prevent private monopoly more effectually than it has yet been prevented. I think it will be easily agreed that we should let the Sherman anti-trust law stand, unaltered, as it is, with its debatable ground about it, lest that we should as much as possible reduce the area of that debatable ground by further and more explicit legislation, and should also supplement that great act by legislation which will not only clarify it but also facilitate its administration and make it fairer to all concerned.

No doubt we shall all wish, and the country will expect, this to be the central subject of our deliberations during the present session, but it is a subject so many sided and so deserving of careful and discriminating discussion that I shall take the liberty of addressing you upon it in a special message at a later date than this. It is of capital importance that the business men of this country should be relieved of all uncertainties of law with regard to their enterprises and investments and in clear path indicated which they can travel without anxiety. It is as important that they should be relieved of embarrassment and set free to prosper as that private monopoly should be destroyed. The ways of action should be thrown wide open.

FAVORS DIRECT ELECTIONS.

Would Retain Conventions, Delegates to Be Nominees For Office, Whose Duty It Would Be to Frame Platforms.

I turn to a subject which I hope can be handled promptly and without serious controversy of any kind. I mean the method of selecting nominees for the presidency of the United States. I feel confident that I do not misinterpret the wishes or the expectations of the country when I urge the prompt enactment of legislation which will provide for primary elections throughout the country at which the voters of the several parties may choose their nominees for the presidency without the intervention of nominating conventions. I venture the suggestion that this legislation should provide for the retention of party conventions, but only for the purpose of declaring and accepting the verdict of the primaries and formulating the platforms of the parties, and I suggest that these conventions should consist not of delegates chosen for this single purpose, but of the nominees for congress, the nominees for vacant seats in the senate of the United States, the senators whose terms have not yet closed, the national committees and the candidates for the presidency themselves. In order that platforms may be framed by those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect.

PRIMARY NOMINATIONS FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

I urge the prompt enactment of legislation which will provide for primary elections throughout the country at which the voters of the several parties may choose their nominees for the presidency without the intervention of nominating conventions. I venture the suggestion that this legislation should provide for the retention of party conventions, but only for the purpose of declaring and accepting the verdict of the primaries and formulating the platforms of the parties, and I suggest that these conventions should consist not of delegates chosen for this single purpose, but of the nominees for congress, the nominees for vacant seats in the senate of the United States, the senators whose terms have not yet closed, the national committees and the candidates for the presidency themselves, in order that platforms may be framed by those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect.

PHILIPPINE CONTROL.

Must Hold Ultimate Independence In View and Strive to Fit Filipinos For Self Government at Future Date.

These are all matters of vital domestic concern, and besides them, outside the charmed circle of our own national life in which our affections command us, as well as our consciences, there dawn upon our delibrations toward our territories over seas. Here we are trustees. Porto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines, are ours, indeed, but not ours to do what we please with. Such territories, once regarded as mere possessions, are no longer to be selfishly exploited; they are part of the domain of public conscience and of serviceable and enlightened statesmanship.

We must administer them for the people who live in them and with the same sense of responsibility to them as toward our own people in our domestic affairs. No doubt we shall successfully enough kind Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands to ourselves by ties of justice and interest and affection, but the performance of our duty toward the Philippines is a more difficult and debatable matter. We can satisfy the obligations of generous justice toward the people of Porto Rico by giving the simple and familiar rights and privileges accorded our own citizens in our own territories and our obligations toward the people of Hawaii by perfecting the provisions for self government already granted them, but in the Philippines we must go further. We must hold steadily in view their ultimate independence, and we must move toward the time of that independence as steadily as the way can be cleared and the foundations thoughtfully and permanently laid.

Acting under the authority conferred upon the president by congress, I have already accorded the people of the islands a majority in both houses of their legislative body by appointing five instead of four native citizens to the membership of the commission. I believe that in this way we shall make proof of their capacity in counsel and their sense of responsibility in the exercise of political power and that the success of this step will be sure to clear our view for the steps which are to follow.

Step by step we should extend and perfect the system of self government in the islands, making test of them and modifying them as experience discloses their successes and their failures; that we should more and more put under the control of the native citizens of the archipelago the essential instruments of their life, their local instrumentalities of government, their schools, all the common interests of their communities and so by counsel and experience set up a government which all the world will see to be suitable to a people whose affairs are under their own control.

At best, I hope and believe, we are beginning to gain the confidence of the Filipino peoples. By their counsel and experience, rather than by our own, we shall learn how best to serve them and how soon it will be possible and wise to withdraw our supervision. Let us once find the path and set out with firm and confident tread upon it, and we shall not wander from it or linger upon it.

PROBLEM IN ALASKA.

A duty faces us with regard to Alaska which seems to me very pressing and very imperative; perhaps I should say a double duty, for it concerns both the political and the material development of the territory. The people of Alaska should be given the full territorial form of government, and Alaska, as a storehouse, should be unlocked. One key to it is a system of railways. These the government should itself build and administer, and the ports and terminals it should itself control in the interest of all who wish to use them for the service and development of the country and its people.

But the construction of railways is only the first step. Only the first to the key to the storehouse and throw it back the lock and open the door. How the hundreds thousands of the country are to be attracted to other matters to which I am at liberty of from time to time to direct your attention, for it is a very able it must be worked out in well ordered stages, not upon theory but upon lines of practical wisdom. It is part of our general business of conservation. We have a great deal to be working out the problem is vastly than in the states of the East, and yet the principles are the same wherever we touch it. We must use the resources of the country and lock them up.

There need be no conflict or cut-throat between state and federal authorities, for there can be no essential difference of purpose between them. The resources to be opened must be worked not destroyed or wasted; need not be monopolized upon any narrow plan of individual rights as against the abiding interests of communities. There is a policy can be worked out by conference and concession which will release these resources and yet not forever dissipate them. I for one have no doubt, and it can be done on lines of regulation which need be no less acceptable to the people and government of the nation at large whose hot taste these resources are. We must bend our counsels to this end. A common purpose ought to make agreement easy.

PRESIDENT MAKES KNOWN HIS PHILIPPINE POLICY.

President Wilson's policy toward the Philippine Islands is made clear in his message. He urges the development of the Philippines, always keeping in view ultimate independence of the islanders. While he does not believe they are ready for self government today he believes that eventually they will be. He points out improvement that has recently been made by calling attention to the fact that more natives have been appointed on the Philippine commission than was the case previously.

EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY ACT.

Urges Legislation to Safeguard Workmen Both on Land and Sea—Points Out Needed Economical Reforms.

Three or four matters of special importance and slenderness I beg that you will permit me to mention in closing.

Our bureau of mines ought to be equipped and empowered to render even more effectual service than it renders now in improving the conditions of mine labor and making the mines more economically productive as well as more safe. This is an all important part of the work of conservation, and the conservation of human life and energy lies even nearer to our interest than the preservation from waste of our material resources.

We owe it in more justice to the railway employees of the country to provide for them a fair and effective employer's liability act and a law that we can stand by in this matter will be ... of the employees of those who administer the railroads of the country than to the advantage of those whom they employ. The experience of a large number of the states abundantly proves this.

We ought to devote ourselves to meeting pressing demands of plain justice like this as earnestly as to the accomplishment of patient and well ponder reforms. Social justice comes first. Law is the machinery for its realization and is vital only as it expresses and embodies it.

An international congress for the discussion of all questions that affect safety at sea is now sitting in London at the suggestion of our own government. So soon as the conclusions of that congress can be hearted and considered we ought to address ourselves, among other things, to the prompt alleviation of the very unsafe, unjust and lamentable conditions which now surround the employment of sailors and render it extremely difficult to obtain the services of spirited and competent men such as every ship needs if it is to be safely handled and brought to port.

May I not express the very real pleasure I have experienced in co-operating with this congress and sharing with it the labors of common service to which it has devoted itself so assuredly during the past seven months of unremitting concentration upon the business of legislation? Surely it is a proper and pertinent part of our report on "The State of the Union" to express our admiration for the diligence, the good temper and the full comprehension of public duty which has already been manifested by both the houses, and I hope that it may not be deemed an impertinent intrusion of myself into the province if I say with how much and how constant satisfaction I have availed myself of the privilege of putting my time and energy at their disposal alike in counsel and in action. WOODROW WILSON.

Oyster Shells as Medicine.

Ground oyster shells were given by the medieval doctors to children suffering from rickets and crofula. Now it appears that they were right. The shells contain lime, nitrogen, iron, sulphur, manganese, magnesia, flour, bromide, phosphoric acid and iodine, all excellent for feeble children. They say that if growing children were to take powdered oyster shells in their food the teeth would be improved.

While here Mr. Tomlinson was the guest of Sam Greenberg, the popular clothier, who conducts the Greenberg's store on Market street. Mr. Greenberg is prospering and wants his friends to get a share of the business in the Bess town.

Dog That Bit Miss Appel Had Rabies

Word came from the state board of health Tuesday that the pet dog of Miss Margaret Appel which took a bite in her left cheek was afflicted with the rabies and Miss Appel has already started to take the serum treatment provided by this board.

Ninety nine cases out of a hundred respond to it almost instantaneously and Miss Appel and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Appel, have implicit faith in the serum and expect it to do the work cut out for it very effectively. Miss Appel remains cheerful and unruffled and no untoward symptoms are looked for in her unpleasant experience. There are 21 shots of the serum to be administered and Miss Appel has already taken nine of them.

After pussyfooting around for an answer the stranger blurted out that he wanted "on the l. a. N. "Why," came back Mr. Carr, and when the stranger saw he was cornered he "spoofed" left the store.

Mr. Carr called on the police and furnished them with a description of the fellow, as he was a little apprehensive that the "stranger would make an effort to 'burglarize' his store. Two police in plain clothes watched the Carr store Sunday and Monday, but they failed to discover any suspicious character prowling around there.

Charity Ball Was Splendid Success

The tango and all other new tangled forms of dancing were barred at the Charity Ball at Kendall's ball Monday evening, and the picturesque old ball room remained true to the traditions of the past on the closing night of its existence as a dance hall. In the neighborhood of 150 couples attended the hop, and no happier or merrier throng ever whiled away an evening of pleasure in Kendall's ball than the one that danced for sweet charity's sake Monday evening.

The crowd arrived early and stayed late, and the floor was filled with merry dancers throughout the evening, all of whom seemed bent on enjoying their last night in Kendall's ball to the very limit. Inspiring music was furnished by the Gusto Trio, which organization fully lived up to its past reputation.

Mayor Tynes, who was to have led the grand march at 10 o'clock, failed to put in an appearance and this feature of the dance was called off. The prize waltz and prize two-step created much enthusiasm and the winners were picked from out a field of graceful dancers only after the most careful and painstaking comparison.

Miss Grace Wells of 1126 Fourth street was awarded the best waltzer by the judges, and received as a prize a beautiful manicure set. Her partner was Chas. Davis. The prize for the most graceful dancer in the two-step, a bronze clock, went to Miss Hattie Gies, of Ninth street, who was piloted through the dance movements by Joseph Kountz, the popular clerk at the Criterion Clothing company.

The floor was in excellent condition, and not one detail necessary to make the occasion a most enjoyable one was overlooked by the committee in charge. The crowd exceeded the most sanguine hopes of the promoters and a neat sum was realized from the dance, the entire proceeds of which will be devoted to charity.

In charge of the arrangements were Carl Hansen and James Distel, of the Hansen Furniture company, which firm donated the hall and bore the entire expenses of the dance. They were assisted by Ralph Shiffler and Chalmer Davis, floor managers, who maintained the best of order at all times.

In the neighborhood of $75 was realized from the dance, part of which will be donated to the Salvation Army and the balance to the Zala Mission in the West End.

Annual Election of Masonic Officers

F. M. BAGGS RECEIVED AS JUNIOR WARDEN OF GRAND LODGE F. & A. M.

At a largely attended meeting of Aurora lodge, F. & A. M., Monday evening, the members placed an excellent corps of officers at the helm for the ensuing year, electing Prof. J. D. Crowning, principal of the Portsmouth High school, to the exalted station of Worshipful Master. Other officers elected are as follows:

Senior warden, George L. Gilker; junior warden, Sherrard Johnson; treasurer, William Stivox; secretary, A. J. Fuller; senior deacon, Fred Wheeler; junior deacon, Harry H. Baker; tyler, Andrew Reinhard.

Under the regime of the retiring officers Aurora lodge has enjoyed one of the most prosperous years since the institution was organized, and Worshipful Master William E. Clayton was made to know that his work was highly appreciated. Preceding the election, Past Master D. A. Grimes in a happy and uplifting speech presented to Master Clayton a beautiful jewel, testimonial to the splendid administration of the retiring master.

The meeting Monday night was without a doubt one of the most historic since the lodge was organized, the occasion being the official reception tendered Frank M. Baggs as the Grand Junior Warden of the Grand lodge of Ohio, a position to which he was elected last December. In some lodge circles perhaps the occasion would not have been attended with so much enthusiasm, but the fact that Mr. Baggs is a member of Aurora lodge coupled with the additional fact that this is the first time in the history of the Grand lodge that a Scottish Mason has been officially recognized in the Grand lodge made the occasion one of great solemnity. It is generally conceded that such an honor could not have been bestowed upon a more worthy Mason. Mr. Baggs is generally regarded as one of the most prominent Masons in the state. From the time he was raised as a Master Mason in Aurora lodge in 1902 until the present day he has been one of its most active members. He has filled all the stations in the lodge, being chosen Junior Deacon in December, 1902, and rising by steps of Master during 1908 and 1909. This he filled to the satisfaction of the lodge in a most acceptable manner. FINE DRAWING CARD

Here's the real reason why the Detroit club would not trade Tyrus Cobb to any club unless it got something remarkably in return: The Tigers in 1912 drew approximately $126,000 on the road; in 1913 they drew only approximately $88,000. Who was absent from the team for some little time at the start of the 1913 season? Answer: T. R. Cobb on his spectacular holdout. Make your deductions.

PLAYED ON SAME TEAM

The signing of Wilbert Robinson to manage Brooklyn and the selection of Governor Tener of Dickinson to be president of the National league recalls the time when these two were teammates. They played together on what was probably the greatest minor league club of all time, reckoned from the standpoint of fame achieved later by its members. It was the Haverhill club of the New England league in 1886. Tener was a catcher and Robinson a catcher and occasionally they worked as a battery.

RITCHIE IS FAVORITE

Many fight fans think, as a result of Willie Ritchie's splendid form, shown by the recent defeat of Leach Cross, that he will make mincemeat out of Tommy Murphy in their bout on the coast on December 16. Just recently since Murphy was such an easy victim for Packey McFarland in New York a few weeks ago. But they seem to forget that Murphy always fights better in California than in his home district. That seems likely to prove a touch one for Ritchie, since Murphy will be faced in opportunity to win a championship he never had and, ordinarily, will risk everything in the fight to beat the Californian. Ritchie has never a better chance than he has now to get the world's lightweight crown, but he will have to go at top speed.

MAY TAKE ON PRINCETON

Two weeks after Princeton defeated Ann Arbor last year the Michigan team was beaten [illegible] Ohio Wesleyan team with Princeton. The coincidence leads old fans to predict that Princeton will be the easiest game on the Michigan schedule this year. But it would be a mistake to underrate the Ohio team. Last year it was the story. Let it be said that Ann Arbor and Princeton made would be two of the most attractive football games that could possibly be arranged.

Eichenlaub Is On All Western Team

An All Western football team has been named by Coach Stagg of the Chicago team, winner of the Western conference this season and Eichenlaub of Notre Dame has been placed at full back on the honorary team.

Eichenlaub played a spectacular game for Notre Dame and according to the critics he is just as successful line plunger as Willie Heston was in the heyday of his line plunging when he brought fame to Ann Arbor and to himself when apparently with but a little effort he would rip gaping holes into the heavy lines of his opponents.

As Coach Stagg is recognized as an absolute authority in football team students of the game always look forward to his honorary team. It is really a great honor to be named on his mythical eleven. Eichenlaub, who was placed at full back, is a nephew of George Goodman of the Gilbert Grocery Company. He starred in every game, but his most spectacular work was done in the game with Penn State and Indiana.

Here is Coach Stagg's honorary team:

Des Jardien, Chicago, Center.
Allmendinger, Michigan, Guard.
Keeler, Wisconsin, Guard.
Butler, Wisconsin, Tackle.
Brown, South Dakota, Tackle.
Solon, Minnesota, End.
Shaughnessy, Minnesota, End.
Dorais, Notre Dame, Quarter.
Norgren, Chicago, Half.
Crotz, Michigan, Half.
Eichenlaub, Notre Dame, Full.

Eichenlaub is a Cincinnati boy and formerly played on the high school team in that city.

Mystery Solved

The Tinker affair has solved the mystery why so many able baseball men have failed as managers in Cincinnati, and why so many star players have been released to make good with other teams. In true minor league style the stockholders and directors of the Cincinnati club manage the team, and that is why it never wins a pennant. Here's the proof of an extract from the club's formal notice of Tinker's dismissal: "Mr. Tinker seemed to believe he was entitled to usurp all the authority vested by the stockholders in the executive officers and the board of directors."

SAYS HUSBAND IS DRUNKARD.

Ina Sly, through her attorney, Judge Dwyer, filed a suit in divorce Monday afternoon against Albert Sly. The petition avers marriage in May, 1892, and four children ranging in ages from 1 to 19. The plaintiff alleges that her husband is an habitual drunkard and has been for more than three years, and that on or about October 1, 1913, he was guilty of extreme cruelty, in that he struck, beat and injured her, and this was done on numerous occasions subsequent and prior to this time. And for these reasons she asks that she be granted a divorce, alimony and the custody of their children.

Portsmouth Moose Going to Huntington

Huntington, W. Va., Dec. 2. It was announced yesterday that the members of Portsmouth Lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, have agreed to come to Huntington on December 14, and that the degree team of that lodge will confer the work of the order on a great class that will be assisted in Huntington on that night.

Portsmouth, it is said, has one of the most effective degree teams in the entire country, and the members of the Huntington lodge are anticipating with great interest and pleasure their coming.

The Portsmouth Moose have secured a special train for the Huntington trip and it is believed that more than 200 members from that city will attend the big meeting here. E. E. Washbaugh, Deputy National Director, in charge of the work here, stated last night that he expects to have in readiness a class of probably one hundred for the Portsmouth men to work on. The order, already strong in Huntington, has had a splendid growth during the past few months.

The local men, who have excellent appointed club rooms on Fourth avenue, are preparing to give the Portsmouth visitors a fitting reception.

WILL YOU SEND XMAS PACKAGES? READ THIS

Suggestions are being made by the government postal officials to postmasters all over the country to relieve congestion in the post offices during the holidays.

It is recommended that prospective senders of insured or C. O. D. parcels obtain in advance the number of tags which they will need. The tags can then be addressed at home instead of the lobby of the postoffice. Parcels should be properly wrapped, carefully and accurately addressed and indorsed in the proper instances as fragile. Each tag should be fastened to the parcel it describes. Senders should remember that all insured packages must be presented at the postoffice window. Senders should be prepared to give the value of the parcel mailed.

To expedite acceptance of insured parcels from senders who do not secure tags in advance of handing packages to the postoffice, it is being recommended to postmasters that they establish a window or place in the lobby where tags can be distributed and instructions in regard to insurance and making out tags be given.

ARTIST WHO FRESCOED GRAND 15 YEARS AGO REPEATS WORK

Fifteen years ago The Times complimented Miss Annie D. Heinecke for the beautiful designs for the frescoing of the Grand opera house, which were her handwork. Again it is the pleasure of The Times to make particular mention of the attractive designs in the New Grand and compliment the same accomplished designer, now Mrs. F. N. Mercier, of the firm of Annie D. Heinecke & Co., which were employed for the work of frescoers that did the work. No feature of the new theatre has called forth more extravagant praise than the designs for the frescoing.

Easy To Darken Your Gray Hair

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur

When your hair is mixed with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, for it's done so naturally, evenly. Preparing this mixture at home is tiresome and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready to use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You just moisten a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. In a few minutes all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes natural dark color and beautiful. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair not scalp follicles.

Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur is a favorite with those who want to get rid of gray hair quickly, at home, without being sticky or greasy. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is sold by all druggists.

Will Pay $4,000

An agreed settlement was filed in probate court Monday afternoon by Attorney Edgar G. Miller on behalf of Joseph Fields, administrator of the estate of Harry Barker. It will be remembered that Barker was killed while working on what is called the "hump" at the Terminals.

The settlement of the claim for damages carries with it possibly the largest damage claim settled with a railway company in this county. The N. & W. Railway company, under the terms of the settlement, will pay the estate $4,000 and this saves the expense and trouble of a law suit.

TO TANGO OR NOT TO TANGO, THAT IS CAUSING THE ROW

Portsmouth is in the throes of a dance war, which has been brought to an acute stage by the action of the committees in charge of the U. C. T. dance and the Charity Ball in placing under the ban the "Tango," "Castle-Walk," "Bunny-Hug," "Cradle Rock," "Hammock-Swing," and the thousand and one other forms of newfangled dancing that have originated in the minds of those clever enough to figure out a new step. Fraternal societies in the city have also issued an edict forever barring any of the dances named above at their hops, and this has also served to add fuel to the flames.

Among the younger and more active members of the social set, the sweeping order against their favorite dances has met with a storm of opposition, which has passed the point where they consider boy-coiting all dances where they are not allowed to indulge in the latest body gyrations to their hearts' content.

On the other hand, the committee's action has met with the heartiest approval of the older and more sedate dancers and some younger ones, who look upon the modern dance movements as nothing short of shocking and unworthy of a place in a respectable ball room.

Figuring Out The New Dances

While the war goes merrily on, the devotees of the new form of dancing met in twos, fours, sixes and so on, to figure out new and more intricate steps, with which they can electrify the other dancers when the next opportunity is given them to display their agility and gracefulness on the floor. He or she who develop a movement up another time unheard of or unknown becomes a magnet to which draws every would-be dancer of the new school, who never gives up the effort until it is completely mastered and a part of his or her fast increasing repertoire.

Many a young man and young woman who never tasted of the sweet fruits of popularity when the classic waltz and two-step represented the acme of perfection in dancing, has since become a social hon or lioness over night through the ability to shine in the tango, while others who in the olden days recognized no superior have had to take a back seat because of their failure to properly express the artistic sentiment and motion of the newest dance craze.

Dancing is undergoing a revolution, and nowhere is that revolution causing more comment and more praise and censure than in Portsmouth, as can be evidenced by the following statements secured by the Times today:

Thinks Tango Is Disgraceful

A leading society matron and married woman says: "The tango is positively disgraceful, and should not be allowed either at public or private dances. The movement that it has artistic merit is mere buncombe, designed as an apology for something that should not be tolerated in good society."

One of the younger society leaders who has persistently refused to follow in the wake of her closest chums, said: "The proper place for the tango and similar dances is on the stage, where a discriminating public can choose between it and something more elevating, although, personally, I think it has no place there. It should not be allowed to thrust itself into the ball room to the disgust of those to whom the dance is repulsive."

Old Beaux For Tango

One of Portsmouth's most gallant beaux, too old himself to dance the tango, said: "The tango is all right, and I am heartily in favor of it. Some of those who are most bitterly denouncing it now will be the most enthusiastic followers of the new dance within a year."

The tango, if danced properly, represents the most perfect dance, from an artistic standpoint, yet conceived, and I am glad that it has taken such a firm hold in Portsmouth," was the reply offered by an elderly society matron who has encouraged this form of dancing in Portsmouth from the start.

Why All The Fuss? Says Young Lady

One of the most accomplished tango dancers in the city, a leader of the younger set, said: "I can't see why such a fuss is being made over the tango. It is as simple as the waltz or two-step, and much more enjoyable. I would hate to have to go back to the old style of dancing after having had so much real fun and enjoyment during the past year."

A young man, who has been quite an infrequent guest at dances during the past year, gave his reasons in the following statement: "The introduction of the tango and other similar dances has spoiled dancing for me. I never expect to become a devotee of the tango, for I consider it nothing short of foolish for a man to go through such maneuvers on a dance floor."

Fraternal Man Against Dance

A member of a local fraternal order, who has been quite active in suppressing the tango at the dances given by the lodge of which he is a member, said: "I saw at the start that the tango was ruining our dances, and I used every means in my power to have it put under the ban. The dancers carry it to the extreme, and it causes an unpleasantness and ill feeling that would have in time driven some of our best members and their families from our dances. We have had better times and better feeling since we abolished the tango, and I am sure it will never be allowed there again."

The above interviews taken at random from many, simply indicate the difference of opinion that exists as to the real merit of the dance, and explains why there is such a storm of protest going up in some quarters against its universal adoption.

FRUIT LAXATIVE FOR SICK CHILD

"CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS" CAN'T HARM TENDER STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS

Every mother realizes after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste, and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without gripping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother. If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul accumulation of waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When stomach is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Plans For Parsonage

Trustees of the Trinity church have called a meeting with Architect Arthur Dewes tonight, at 7:30, and they will jointly go over the plans for a new parsonage for Trinity church. The improvements as they have been made by architect have been deferred because of the discussion thereof.

The parsonage is to contain nine rooms and will be built of stone, rough [illegible] and will be complete in every detail. It will face Gallia street and will have an entrance on the Gallia street side. The parsonage is to be built on the [illegible] frame building used for that purpose and which is located just west of the Trinity church.

Guarding Against Croup

The best safeguard against croup is a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar for Coughs and Colds. P. H. Ginn, Middleport, Ga., writes: "My children are very susceptible to croup, easily catch cold. I have them Foley's Honey and Tar. Great remedy and in every instance they get prompt relief and are soon cured. We keep it always on hand for croup, also it is fine for coughs, colds, hoarseness, asthma, bronchial and lagrippe coughs. It contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. BOY SCOUTS MET GOVERNOR COX

The delegation of Portsmouth boys who attended the big Y. M. C. A. convention for older boys at Toledo on last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, returned to the city Monday evening, at 7:30, over the N. & W. railway. The following were in the group: M. O. F. Kinsey, secretary; Clifford Zahars, David Williams, Imboden Hudson, Carey Williams, Curtis Bellamy, Curtis Ayers, Russell Williams and Harry Phillips.

Mr. Kinsey, the leader, said in an interview this morning: "I have attended many gatherings of boys in my life, but I never witnessed the equal of this conference at Toledo. Three hundred boy delegates were in attendance, and it was inspiring, indeed, to look into the faces of them during the sessions of the conference."

Sunday was the big day for the boys. In the morning they attended Sunday school with their hosts, as well as church services, and at noon the entire Portsmouth delegation of nine dined with Mr. Charles Pfau, a former citizen of Portsmouth, who is now running a bakery in Toledo.

Sunday afternoon two big mass meetings were held; one for boys 16 and over, the other for boys under 16. The former was addressed by Mr. James Whitmore, of New York City, and the other by Dr. Fletcher, of New York, who heads the Physical Department of the Young Men's Christian Association in America. Whitmore made a powerful address, and about 40 boys joined the Christian life as the result.

Sunday evening the closing session was held in the Methodist church and Dr. Fisher was the speaker, whose subject was "Leadership." At the close of this address each delegate was given an opportunity to tell how the convention had helped him. As the entire 210 delegates and their secretaries clasped hands, they sang in closing, "Blest Be the Tie that Binds," and the great Older Boys' Conference came to a close.

The Portsmouth delegation left Toledo Monday morning at 4:20, reaching Columbus at 7:20 a. m. Here they remained until 4:20 p. m. The boys had a fine time in Columbus. In the early part of the morning they visited the many places of interest in the State House, and all present had the pleasure of meeting Governor Cox in the executive chamber. The Governor paid a high compliment to Portsmouth and her of his recent visit here, and especially of our fine high school building.

The Governor's secretary, Mr. Frank Burke, then gave the boys a free pass to the state penitentiary, which proved to be a round trip, so he expressed it. The rest of the afternoon was spent in this institution and was extremely interesting to the boys.

After lunch, the boys then visited the city Y. M. C. A., as the guests of Mr. Pontious, the general secretary, and Mr. Bobbitt, Boys' Work secretary. After visiting the different departments of the Y. M. C. A., the boys then took a fine swim in the big swimming pool. Of course this was the real feature of the afternoon's program.

Took Poison.

Ironton, O., Dec. 2.—Price Meadows, a well-known young man of Russell, Ky., Saturday night swallowed a quantity of strychnine and for a time his life was despaired of. Drs. Fitch and Rathburn worked with the man for some time and finally saved his life. Just what prompted the young man to swallow the poison is not known.

With the new furniture installed and the room prettily decorated and cozily furnished, the Bartenders' union is delighted with the new whome above Ye Old Mill cafe on Second street.

ROBBERY

Once in the foyer they were barred from access to the box office by a heavy oak door fortified by a strong lock. In their efforts to jimmy this door they were unsuccessful. Battered wood between the door and the casing Tuesday morning showed where the robbers had unsuccessfully attempted to force the door. Baffled in this attempt, they skillfully removed a large piece of glass from the box office window. Through the opening they undoubtedly crawled and then lifting the 300 pound safe a distance of an approximate four feet, pushed it through the aperture in the window, and the skill and completeness which characterized the work of the robbers throughout was strikingly demonstrated by the fact that the marble top of the box office stand was not scratched or broken.

Carrying or dragging the safe into the interior of the theatre, the robbers had the advantage of electric light. The safe was found directly beneath one of the overhead clusters and they undoubtedly worked by its rays.

Nitroglycerine Did the Work

Police are of the opinion that nitroglycerine was used. The safe was completely wrecked. Portions of it were thrown against the banister on the stairway leading to the balcony splintering and marring it. The "back" of the theater was also imbedded with small fragments of metal.

A wet towel, a bar of soap, an old case knife and a new claw hammer were found in the door near the safe, apparently abandoned by the gang.

The money taken represented the entire proceeds of Monday's three performances. Forethought as well as ingenuity was displayed by the robbers in their work. They selected a day when the patronage is always heavy, Monday being the introduction of a new bill for the week. Receipts for the matinee and the two evening performances were "banked" in the small safe by Manager Fitzinger, lessee of the theatre.

Got Out Via Fire Escape

Escape from the scalding after the robbery was committed, was apparently made from the fire escape on the third floor of the building and leading onto Sixth street. The door was found open. It is always locked at night, a small hook from the inside fastening it. There are no indications that the door was forced open and that the thieves undoubtedly opened it from the inside. All evidence tends to the theory that the robbers were concealed in the house and were not compelled to force their way into the theatre.

Yeggmen Were Real Artists

A remarkable feature of the entire safe blowing job is the neatness and skill displayed. The glass removed from the window to the box office was not broken. It had been carefully laid aside and the frame. The way it had been removed from the window revealed the work of an artist. The only bunglesome piece of work about the entire job was the utter destruction of the safe and the futile attempt to jimmy the door to the box office leading from the foyer into the office. It alone withstood the attempts of the morning gang.

Another remarkable circumstance in connection with the robbery is the fact that no one has been found who heard the report of the explosion in cracking the safe which must have been terrific if the destruction of the safe is any criterion of the force and volume of the explosion. Leopards which are featured in one of the acts of the Sun this week, were quartered on the stage during the night. That they did not scent danger and become frightened by the explosion is considered rather out of the ordinary by the trainers. Not a whimper was heard from them during the night. The first intimation of any raid on the Sun came when Ernest Dixon stumbled over the crumbled remains of the iron safe Tuesday morning.

From the ruins of the safe Manager Lee rescued valuable papers, which, although partially damaged by the force of the explosion, were not destroyed.

Couldn't Find Prowlers.

Police officers in the vicinity of Sixth and Chillicothe streets late Monday night failed to substantiate the report that prowlers were lurking around the Sun theatre. A thorough investigation was made by the officers, for they were anxious to locate the alleged marauders.

Barns Burned.

Gallipolis, O., Dec. 2.—Two large barns, belonging to Mr. Lewis Evans of Cheshire, were burned early Tuesday morning. Horses and farming implements were consumed, causing a loss of $1,000. It is believed an incendiary started the fire.
